

Mike, Dan, Ross, and I went skiing at Snowbird and Alta for a few days. Wait, we lost Mike somewhere..

We celebrated Easter at our house again. Look what we found hidden in the garden!

Tet and I celebrated birthdays together this year. She's finally legal!

Three generations of Kosses celebrated the latest Koss - Ryan.

Alek manned the assistance booth at his Bonsai Club show. He fixes Bonsai for anyone at the show.

Alek spent almost half the summer at Mammoth. It's little boy heaven.

Apparently Alek is very kissable.

Rich and Karen gained a son, or lost a daughter, oh well something happened in fancy clothes.

Happy New Year

From Greg,
Caroline,
and Alek

We're a little late, we know..

Roy & Sarah enjoying a very happy wedding, being chaperoned by Alek.

What should we make of this? Alek caught the garter wrapped football. Alisa caught the bouquet.

Laura & Brian got married. There was much kissing rejoicing.

We did Fleet Week from Sam's boat in the Bay. Kip & Tom were fellow swabbies for the event.

Melissa & Tony had twins! Fortunately her sister Jessica is a good stand-in for baby duty.

The day after TG we went for a walk by the bay at Shoreline. There was lovely seasonal fauna on the path.

Ryan, Alek's second cousin turned One. Alek can't believe how little we all start out.

A bunch of us spent a weekend at Housekeeping Cabins in Yosemite in September. The company, food, activities, and views were all spectacular.

One shift of kitchen crew at Xmas in Pacific Grove. Another bacchanal of gifts and food was thoroughly enjoyed.

Caroline and Sarah enjoy an afternoon on Asilomar Beach with Sally during Xmas.

Rich & Karen broke out their finest Ugly Sweaters for the White Elephant party. They are so gifted!

White Elephant Party! Lots of "gifts" were exchanged. Some of them were enjoyed, 'nuf said..
